

IDBI FUNDS

Dear Friends,

The stock market is moving from strength to strength and the investor sentiment is high. There is significant decline in oil prices with resultant positives on several fronts. The Mutual Fund industry is also witnessing steady inflows. The industry's Assets under Management touched an all-time high of Rs.10.95 lakh crore in October 2014. Many investors who wish to partake of the equity run but are not inclined to invest lump sums, are now joining through the Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) facility. SIPs help to even out the cost of acquisition of units over a period of time. An excellent wealth-building tool, this all-season facility works better in a longer time-frame to meet life-cycle based varied financial goals.

I urge you to invest through SIPs in IDBI Mutual Fund and maximize your opportunities for savings and investment. We assure you of our conscientious efforts in our goal of wealth-creation for our investors.

With warm regards,

S N Babeti
(M.D. and Chief Executive Officer)

Equity Market Overview

The Nifty and the Sensex ended the month at a new all-time high following a number of positive developments on the economic as well political front. The victory of the ruling party BJP in the state elections of Haryana and Maharashtra gave hope to the market that the process of implementation of reforms will become smoother, and would also help the ruling party to shore up its numbers in the Upper House.

Definitive policy actions taken immediately post the State elections also cheered the markets. Diesel prices were de-regulated, natural gas prices were hiked (albeit lower than expected) and direct benefit transfer in LPG was revived. This was quickly followed by an ordinance to resolve the pending issues arising out of the Supreme Court's judgment quashing allocation of coal blocks. The ordinance laid out a framework aimed at expediting the auction process and also provided an enabling provision for commercial mining.

A positive surprise also came from a 5-year low WPI of 2.4% and September CPI falling to 6.5%. However, weak trend persisted as far as IIP numbers were concerned with August IIP coming lower than expectation at 0.4%, similar to July's 0.4% print. This was well below expectations of 2.6% and in sharp contrast to the core sector trends which rose 5.8%. October Manufacturing PMI however came in at 51.6 versus 51 in the previous month. September trade deficit widened to $14.2bn from $10.8bn in the previous month led by a sharp uptick in imports and subdued trends in exports growth.

Most of the sectoral Indices ended the month on a strong note with the BSE Cap Goods index and BSE Bank index gaining the most at 11.6% and 10.7%. The only losers were BSE FMCG and BSE Realty indices which were both down by 1.8% each.

On the global front, all the major indices made strong gains during the month in spite of the US Fed putting a complete stop to QE. The 'dovish commentary' from the Fed wherein they repeated their promise of keeping rates low till they see definite signs of sustainable recovery in the US economy along with a better-than-expected Q3CY14 GDP print of 3.5% gave confidence to global markets. Also the announcement from Japan of further quantitative easing along with indication from the EU that they might also initiate a QE program of their own gave ample confidence to the market.

FII's net sold $190.68 mn during the month of October compared to a purchase of $845.49 mn in September.

Fixed Income Overview

The bond market, after a period of somnolence in August and September, suddenly woke in the month of October. The month saw yields crashing down on the back of global events, the major one being the fall in crude prices. The 10 year Gsec Yield which ended in Sept at 8.52% moved down and closed the month at 8.28%. The levels of the various instruments at the end of the month of October are given below:

The major event in the bond market was the US-Fed which, as expected, had finally withdrawn the quantitative easing where it was buying bonds to the tune of USD 15 bn every month. It was announced this bond purchase would stop on the back of an improved outlook for the economy. But they still kept the key repo rates between 0 to 0.25% and indicated that this would remain there for a considerable amount of time. The US treasury 10 year yield moved down to 2.3%. Falling crude prices had put a lid on any near term rate increase or rate normalization by the Fed.

	Level on 30th Sept 14	Level on 31st Oct 14
10 year Gsec	8.5160%	8.28%
5 year Corp bond	9.22%	8.85%
2 month Cd yield	8.55%	8.45%
2 month Cp yield	8.75%	8.60%
1 year Cd yield	9.10%	8.79%
1 month Cd yield	8.48%	8.40%

Inflation data showed a lower trend in both wholesale and retail. WPI for the month of October came at 2.38% and CPI came at 5.96%, which was much lower than the RBI's targets. The fall in inflation came at the back of falling international crude prices. Brent crude price per barrel fell to a low of 85 USD and indications are that the crude price is trending lower. The fall in inflation had set off the rally in bonds locally here on the expectation that the RBI would cut rates sooner than expected. But the expectation was belied by the RBI which said that any monetary action cannot be based on a single data point, like a fall in inflation for one month.

Liquidity continued to be comfortable with increased govt spending and low credit off take leading to surplus liquidity in the banking system. The RBI had to resort to reverse repos in the market to drain out the excess liquidity in the system. At one point in time the RBI had resorted to remove about Rs. 60000 crs of cash in the system.

Our outlook at the beginning of the year was that yields are going to trend downwards and that the 10 yr Gsec yield would touch a level of 8.25%+ by the end of the calendar year. Our outlook is that yields are looking to go down further as inflation is set to trend downwards. We feel RBI would wait till the next calendar year for any further monetary action.
